

Layers of Learning

Unit I-10 Printables

Chinese Dragon Coloring Sheet

Ancient China Timeline

Ancient China Map

Ancient China: Expanding Borders Map

Pagoda Coloring Sheet

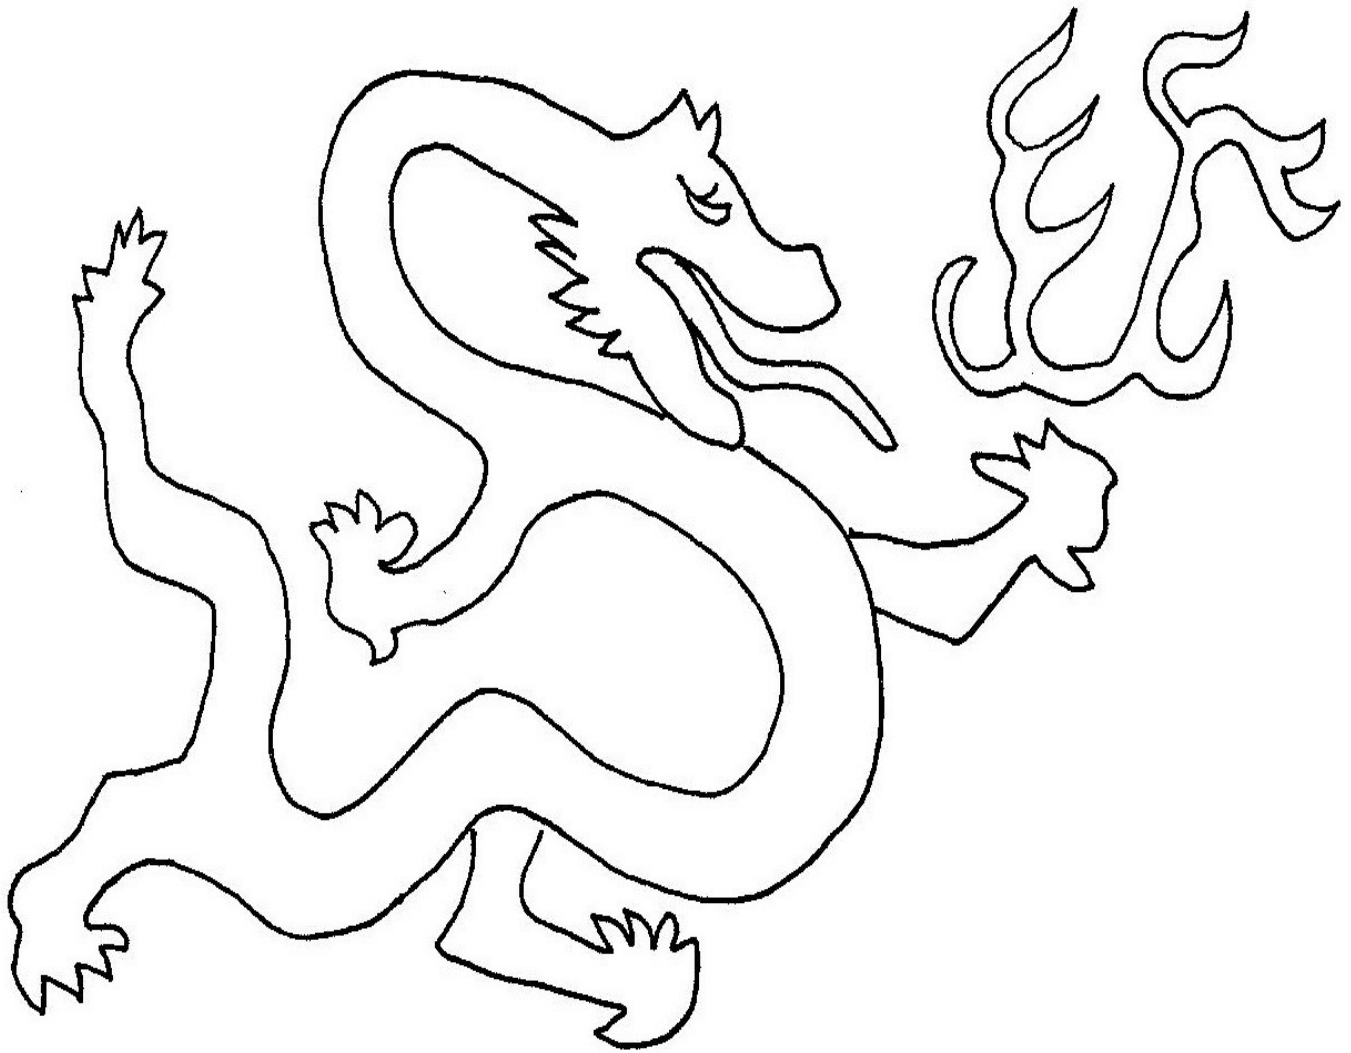

Forests of the World

Deforestation

Michelle Copher & Karen Loutzenhiser

Chinese Dragon

Chinese Dragons are seen throughout Chinese myths, artwork, and legends. Unlike European style dragons, Chinese dragons look long and thin, like a serpent. They do not have wings, but can fly magically. They symbolize power, strength, and control. Often Chinese emperors used them as their symbol.

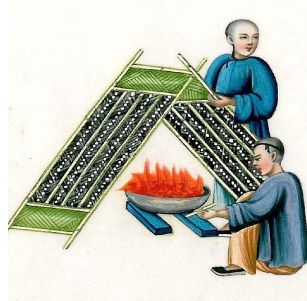

Ancient China: Unit I-10

5000 BC I-10

Farms and small villages develop along the Yangtze and Yellow Rivers

2700 BC I-10

First silk production begins

1765-1027 BC I-10

Many small kingdoms are functioning in China, mostly ruled by the Shang family

1400 BC I-10

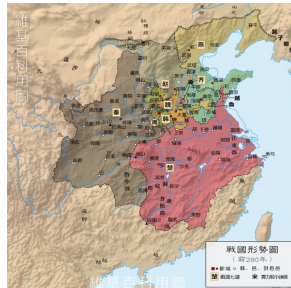

First writing

1027 BC I-10

The Shang family was conquered by the Zhou, who developed a feudalistic system

722-480 BC I-10

Zhou lose control and many small warring kingdoms are set up

551 BC I-10

Confucius is born

481-221 BC I-10

The Warring States Period

221 BC I-10

The Qin (pronounced Chin) conquer all other kingdoms, Qin Shi Huangdi becomes first emperor of China.

221 BC I-10

First wall of China is built, connecting many shorter walls

210 BC I-10

Shi Huangdi dies and is buried with his terracotta army

202BC-220AD I-10

The Han Dynasty rules

1-100 AD I-10

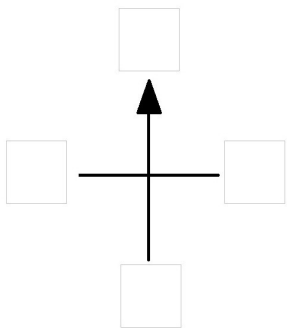

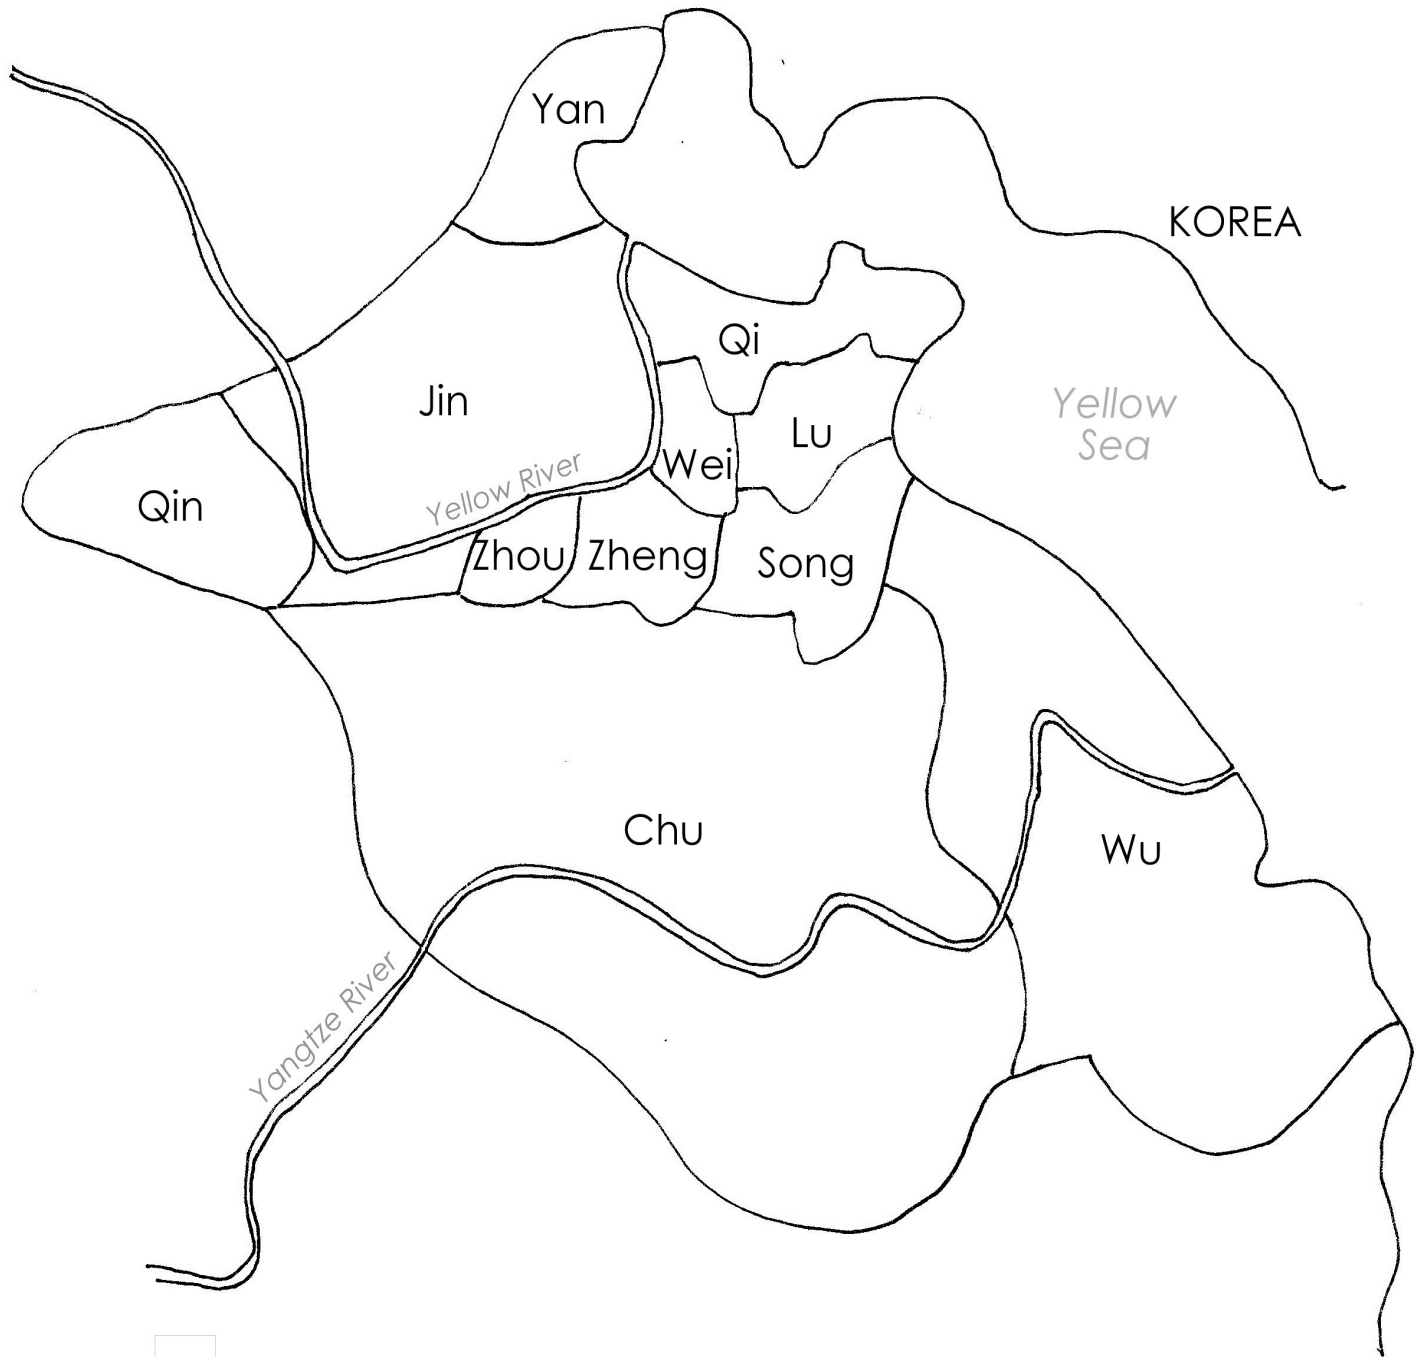

Buddhism is brought from India

100 AD I-10

Paper is invented

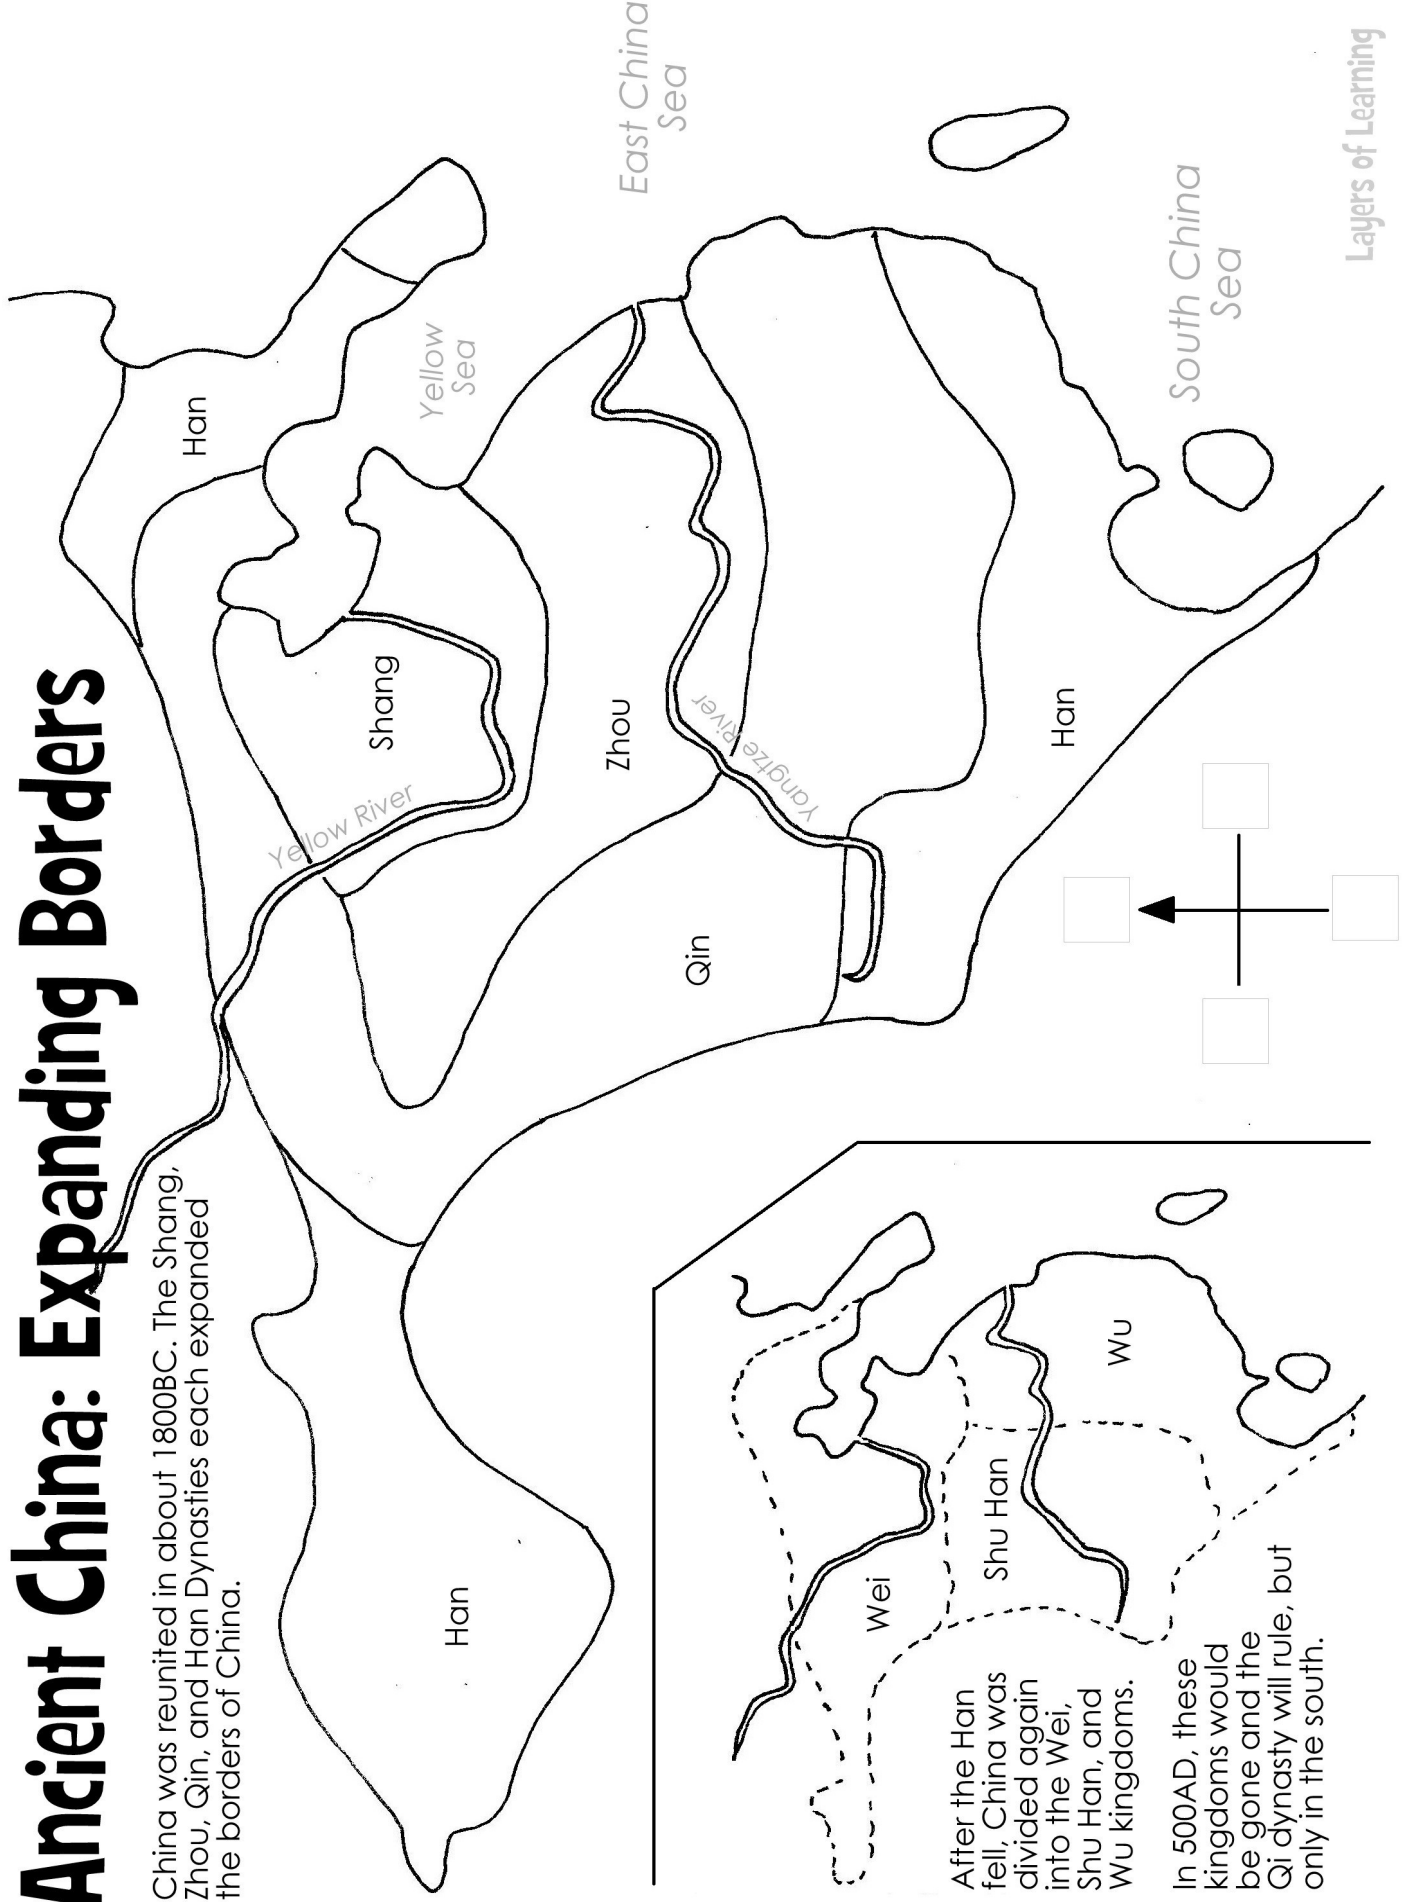

Ancient China: Zhou Kingdom

The Zhou kingdom was made up of many small fiefs. Soon the Zhou will lose control of them and the warring states period will begin. Some of these fiefs will rise to power later and we read about them again.

Ancient China: Expanding Borders

China was reunited in about 1800BC. The Shang, Zhou, Qin, and Han Dynasties each expanded the borders of China.

Pagoda

Layers of Learning

Forests of the World

Worldwide Deforestation and Regrowth

